

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Gary Stephen Allison is assistant professor of special education at the University of Delaware. He received his doctorate from Wilmington College and has been working with students with severe/profound disabilities and exceptional behavior challenges for over 30 years. Dr. Allison serves on the professional advisory board of the Epilepsy Foundation of Delaware and has received numerous awards for service and excellence in teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. His areas of interest include treatment of health- and life-threatening behavior in students with severe/profound disabilities, inclusion and access to meaningful educational opportunities for students with severe/profound disabilities, and the professional preparation and development of teachers in special education.

© copyrighted material by PRO-ED, Inc.